

SCPT The Society for Continental Philosophy and Theology

SCPT's 2015 Conference

Evil, Fallenness, Finitude

May 3-4, 2015

Fordham University – New York City – Lincoln Center Campus

Keynote Speakers:

Ingolf U. Dalferth (University of Zürich, emeritus/Collegium Helveticum/Claremont Graduate University), “The Creativity of Divine Love & the Diversity of Evil”

Emmanuel Falque (Institut catholique de Paris), “Evil and Finitude”

Other Speakers:

Tim Allen
Duane Armitage
Alison Assiter
Marius Ban
Daniel Bradley
Thomas Burrus
Matthew Clemente
Michael Deckard
Drew Desai
Robert Duffy
Lisa Holsberg
Thomas James
Stuart Jesson

David Ketch
Katherine Kirkpatrick
Dimitri Kladiskaskis
José Maria Sánchez de León
Jesus Luzardo
Mindy Makant
Charlotte Marcotte-Toale
Bradley Onishi
Shlomo Dov Rosen
Brian Treanor
William Woody
Matthew Yaw

Papers on such thinkers as Jankélévitch, Kierkegaard, Falque, Ricœur, Heidegger, Brague, Derrida, Scheler, Kant, Sartre, Augustine, and others; on topics including evil, sin, anxiety, the fall, finitude, fragility, forgiveness, failure, and grace.

The complete program, registration, and hotel information are available online at <http://www.scptonline.org/events/2015-conference>.

The conference is sponsored by the following departments, schools, and programs at Fordham University: the Philosophy and Theology Departments, the Comparative Literature and Orthodox Studies Programs, the Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education, and Fordham University Press.

The Society for Continental Philosophy and Theology seeks to promote inquiry at the intersection of philosophy and theology. For more information about SCPT, visit <http://www.scptonline.org>.